Dear Cancer Thrivers Network for Jewish Women Supporter,

In 2015 the Cancer Thrivers Network for Jewish Women (CTN) moved to Jewish Family Service (JFS) for its new home, as a program of JFS. Founded in 2008, by Patti Nemer (z"l), Michelle Passon and Sandy Schwartz, CTN welcomes women who have been diagnosed with any kind of cancer at any time in their lives. For the last 7 years, JFS has hosted this program and the group has continued to thrive.

In order to continue to live up to the mission statement to, "enrich and empower Jewish women through activities, friendship, resources, education and humor," and to maintain its autonomy, the Thrivers are becoming an independent, non-profit, 501(c)(3) organization. Therefore, the program will be transitioning out of Jewish Family Service.

During this transition, you can contact Barbara Larue at laruebarbara@gmail.com for updates or more information on anything related to CTN.

We hope we can count on your continued support to help the Thrivers flourish.

Here's to good health and wellness and thriving for all Cancer Thrivers. May this next chapter be the best one yet for the Cancer Thrivers Network for Jewish Women and may you go from strength to strength.

Sincerely,

Thrivers Leadership Team
